Conneil Committee Votes to Va cate Pioneer Park.

FIRST STEP IS TAKEN

QUESTION LONG DEBATED_VOTE FIVE TO THREE.

By adopting a recommendation to the city council that Picneer square be va-cated as a public park, the council com-mittee which is considering the Los Anmittee which is considering the Los Angeles railroad proposition last evening took the first step towards making the grant to the promoters of the project. An ordinance is to be presented to the council at Tuesday night's meeting calling for this vacation, and that done, the donation of the square will be the next question to of the square will be the next question to Consider.

The members who voted for the ordinance last night are, of course, in favor of making the grant and those who voted against it are opposed to the proposition. It was really the first test of strength and was as follows: Ayes—Hartenstein, Hewlett, Robertson, Thomas, Whittensore, Noes—Canning, Fernstrom, Tuddenham, Absent—Cottrell, Edgar Howe, Reid.

City Attorney's Opinion. City Attorney's Opinion.

The opinion of the city attorney was presented at the beginning of the meeting and it was, briefly stated, that the council had the right to cacate the ground as nate it to a corporation. Mr. Stephens said of the latter proposition:

"The promoters of the proposed rallway have expressed the opinion that the city council under the legislative authority have nower to make the donation requested, but I have made a careful examination of such authorities as I have been able to find bearing upon the proposition. The decisions in regard to the powers of municipal corporations and unon waried phases of the question. BRIEFS.

But having the power to vacate the ground, the council had the power to sell it; and to part with it under such conditions as those proposed, Judge Dickson maintained, was a sale and not a gift. Judge Dickson further averred that the company was not asking a gift, being willing to perform a consideration, such as is fundamental in all laws of contract.

Another point he made was that if the property would still be devoted to bublic use as a railway station. If contract, another point he made was that if the property would still be devoted to bublic use as a railway station. If contract, another point he made was that if the property would still be devoted to bublic use as a railway station. If contract, and the courts held that the city could not give it away under these conditions, the city would be out nothing, as the company, he had no death would have the title quieted in pleaded guilty and was fined $50 which Hewlett, who had thus far refrained months.

Hewlett, who had thus far refrained more stressing himself, came out for the proposition, his views being identical with Robertson's. He would insist on wo things, namely, that the line be inspendent and that Salt Lake be the tertifues.

ome for a union depot, being an amendment to Canning's motion. Tuddenham seconded it.

Attacked City Attorney.

In the succeeding discussion Canning charged that the only way the grant could be made was in a "sneaking and underhanded" way, as shown "by the city attorney's opinion." Mr. Stephens jumped to his feet.

"Mr. Canning," said he, "you are probably not responsible for that reme k. My colnion is before you in writing, and "you will look at it you will find nothing there about "sneaking and underhanded," and nothing to warrant your assertion.

Canning did not answer.

C. O. Whittemore then read a letter from T. E. Gibbon, received yesterday, in which it was stated that surveys are being pushed and that if things go on at this end of the line as they should it will be only a short while before surveyors are put in the field from here and the incorporation papers are filed. He spoke of the invitation to be extended to the other roads making the Pioneer park a union depot.

The amendment of Hartenstein was voted down—5 to 2—and as a further amendment to Canning's motion to reamend the adoption of an ordite they recommend the adoption of an ordite manual to be drawn by the chairman of the meeting. Mr. Thomas, vacating the square as a public park. This, he said, would be the first step necessary. The amendment was adopted on the vote given above.

"The dispatch is made of whole cloth said Mr. Eccles, upon his return for the coast yesterday. "It is absolute false from beginning to end. The fact I never have met any of the Los A geles Terminal officials, either duritheir visit here or while I was in California, and so far as Mr. Pierce is concerned, he was only in San Francisc five hours, going east over the Texas & Pacific. He met no one connected with the project, and so far as I know the Short line has had nothing to do with the new company and no agreement exists between them."

Vice President Bancroft makes a similar denial.

Mr. Eccles says that things are properties out on the coast and the railroad are making money, as usual.

these conditions, the city would be out nothing, as the company, he had no fooubt, would have the title quieted in court and stand the expense of a suit before it made any improvements. After some questions had been asked by members of the council and answered by both Mr. Stephens and Judge Dickson, Whittemore turned in a petition about twelve feet in length, containing over 1,000 names of residents of the Second precinct, favoring the grant.

Canning Became Personal.

It was here that Canning arose. In a very caustic delivery he wanted to know why these men of millions are "not menough to buy their depot." Looking over at Messrs. Kearns, Kelth and C. O. Whittemore and directing his remarks to them, he went on: "You are trying to robthe poor people of this city of their park. Why ain't you men enough to buy it? You with your millions can go down to Saratoga in the hot weather and the porposed here"

Whittemore objected to the member abusing citizens on the floor of the council, but Robertson, who had taken the chair temporarily, allowed him to proceed. Canning then charged that the petition presented by Whittemore was "largely fictitious," and this was resented, but soon quiet reigned.

Pernstrom took the stand that while it may be all right legally he was not sure that the committee was doing the right thing morally in giving away the park. Robertson spoke briefly for the grant.
